

New VTE Column in ppm+

- column icons/logic

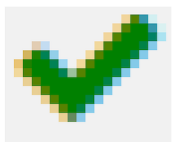

On admission the icon in the column will be a red question mark.

When the first risk assessment has been completed the icon will change to a green tick.

48 hours later the icon will revert to a red question mark to highlight that repeat risk assessment is required.

The icon will then change back to a green tick and remain green.

Unless the patient is marked as high falls risk, in which case the icon will turn red every 72 hours.

If you click the icon in the VTE column it will show if a risk assessment has been completed.
